This charming big vacation home, which has substantial capacity and incredible views, is located in the countryside on a peaceful roadway near to the appealing town of Lliber which nestles in the magnificent Jalon valley. The walled and fenced home is extremely uncommon because it uses a large living location on the upper level and 3 different studio apartments (among which is yet to be finished) on the lower level. The net outcome is that the vacation home is perfect for full-time dealing with an earnings from the houses or similarly appropriate as a financial investment with the entire vacation home being used for vacation rentals. The home is reached by means of among the 2 big gated entryways where you are welcomed with an undercover storage location with parking for 2 vehicles and more extra outdoors parking for a variety of lorries. A number of actions result in the primary living location and from a roomy terraced dining location is the front door which opens into a turreted living location followed by a turreted dining-room which delights in the spectacular vista. Patio area doors lead from the latter to a big open balcony which likewise gains from the sensational
